The effect of the concentration of the substrate on the rate of the reaction was studied by varying the concentration of the substrate from 0.1 to 1.0 M. The rate of the reaction was measured by the change in the optical density of the solution at 260 m μ . The results are shown in Figure 1. The rate of the reaction increases with increasing concentration of the substrate and reaches a maximum at 0.5 M. Above this concentration the rate of the reaction decreases.

The effect of the concentration of the enzyme on the rate of the reaction was studied by varying the concentration of the enzyme from 0.1 to 1.0 M. The rate of the reaction was measured by the change in the optical density of the solution at 260 m μ . The results are shown in Figure 2. The rate of the reaction increases with increasing concentration of the enzyme and reaches a maximum at 0.5 M. Above this concentration the rate of the reaction decreases.

The effect of the pH on the rate of the reaction was studied by varying the pH from 4.0 to 10.0. The rate of the reaction is maximum at pH 7.0 and decreases at both lower and higher pH values.

The effect of the temperature on the rate of the reaction was studied by varying the temperature from 0 to 100°C. The rate of the reaction was measured by the change in the optical density of the solution at 260 m μ . The results are shown in Figure 4. The rate of the reaction increases with increasing temperature and reaches a maximum at 50°C. Above this temperature the rate of the reaction decreases.

The effect of the ionic strength on the rate of the reaction was studied by varying the ionic strength from 0.1 to 1.0 M. The rate of the reaction was measured by the change in the optical density of the solution at 260 m μ . The results are shown in Figure 5. The rate of the reaction increases with increasing ionic strength and reaches a maximum at 0.5 M. Above this concentration the rate of the reaction decreases.

The effect of the presence of inhibitors on the rate of the reaction was studied by varying the concentration of the inhibitor from 0.1 to 1.0 M. The rate of the reaction was measured by the change in the optical density of the solution at 260 m μ . The results are shown in Figure 6. The rate of the reaction decreases with increasing concentration of the inhibitor.

The effect of the presence of activators on the rate of the reaction was studied by varying the concentration of the activator from 0.1 to 1.0 M. The rate of the reaction was measured by the change in the optical density of the solution at 260 m μ . The results are shown in Figure 7. The rate of the reaction increases with increasing concentration of the activator.

The effect of the presence of cofactors on the rate of the reaction was studied by varying the concentration of the cofactor from 0.1 to 1.0 M. The rate of the reaction was measured by the change in the optical density of the solution at 260 m μ . The results are shown in Figure 8. The rate of the reaction increases with increasing concentration of the cofactor.

The effect of the presence of prosthetic groups on the rate of the reaction was studied by varying the concentration of the prosthetic group from 0.1 to 1.0 M. The rate of the reaction was measured by the change in the optical density of the solution at 260 m μ . The results are shown in Figure 9. The rate of the reaction increases with increasing concentration of the prosthetic group.

Requests Granted

By Supervisor Hsieh, that letters be sent to the Port Commission and Director of Port requesting response to the following questions within two weeks:

What is the extent of structural damage to Pier 45 as a result of the October 17, 1989 earthquake;

When does the Port expect to hear from the Federal Emergency Management Agency (FEMA) and the State Office of Emergency Services (OES) regarding the total amount of emergency repair reimbursements for Pier 45 for which the City is eligible;

What is the estimated completion date for structural repairs to Pier 45;

Is the maintenance of commercial fishing, fish handling and fish industries still the priority in the development of Fisherman's Wharf, as stated by the Honorable Mayor Art Agnos and the Director of the Port;

What efforts have been undertaken to restore commercial fishing operations at Pier 45 to their pre-earthquake level;

How do plans for the development of the Fisherman's Wharf Seafood Center Project at Pier 45 impact commercial fishing and fishing handling industries that were operational up until the October 17, 1989 earthquake;

A short term lease of facilities at Pier 28 was offered to the displaced businesses but was unacceptable due to the Pier's proximity to residential housing development and the fact that a short term lease would not allow the fishermen to recapture costs incurred in the relocation. In light of this, why has the Port refused to offer the fishermen a long term lease at Pier 54; and

What interim and long term actions are being taken to help relocate fishing industry displaced by the earthquake in the event that Pier 54 is unavailable.

By Supervisor Maher, that letter of inquiry be sent to the Port Commission and Director of Port expressing the Board's concern relative to what steps are being taken to assure the continued commercial viability of Long's Fish Company and job security for hundreds of Vietnamese fisherman by either finding them a suitable place to relocate with conditions that are mutually acceptable or allow them to continue to use Pier 45.

By Supervisor Maher, that City Attorney prepare appropriate legislation extending the April 12, 1990 deadline for bringing properties into compliance with Sections 179-180 of the City Planning Code (uses, nonconforming uses, noncomplying structures and substandard lots of record located in neighborhood commercial districts). File 115-90-4.

By Supervisor Nelder, that letter be sent to General Manager, Water Department, with the following inquiries:

At what point throughout the City does the Water Department test for THMs; please supply list;

What levels of THMs have been detected at each site in the last two years, indicating the levels on each testing date;

At what point throughout the City is chlorine added to the water and which reservoir (tank) system that water feeds into after chlorination; and

What is the average number of THMs reported as the City average for the last two years.

By Supervisor Nelder, that Clerk developed a hotline for tenants of Housing Authority to call at the Board of Supervisors to lodge complaints, that such complaints be communicated to the Housing Authority and that hearings be called on any such complaints on a regular basis.

By Supervisor Gonzalez, that City Attorney draft resolution endorsing the World Cup Task Force '94 in their efforts to bring the 1994 World Cup Soccer matches to the Bay Area and urging the Mayor and the Board of Supervisors to implement the necessary steps to submit a bid in December 1990, so that Candlestick Park may serve as a host site and urging the City of Palo Alto to work in conjunction with the City so that Stanford Stadium may also serve as a host.

By Supervisor Gonzalez, that letter be sent to Agency Secretary; Business, Transportation and Housing Agency, concerning closure of the truck weigh scales located on Highway 101 in the Brisbane/South San Francisco area and urging the agency to reopen this service at this site.

By Supervisor Gonzalez, that letter be sent to Chief of Police transmitting copy of correspondence concerning increased panhandlers in the blocks of Sutter, Montgomery, Grant, Powell Street and inquiring whether plans will be launched to provide more officers in the area during the day and night time.

By Supervisor Gonzalez, that letter be sent to Housing Authority Commissioners expressing disapproval of the behavior of the Executive Director at a recent committee hearing held by the Board of Supervisors and indicating under Charter Section 2.400 the Board may inquire into matters affecting the conduct of any department or office of the City and County and if need be, may invoke its subpoena power.
